A Wild Child performance is the closest thing to a real 1960's Doors concert and Live Doors Experience. This is not a typical tribute band. Wild Child relies on recapturing the original: sound, feel, mood, dynamics and delivery of the Doors music. In true Doors fashion there are no: wigs, props, costumes, or phony banter between song. It's about the music and its delivery by top pro musicians and performers.

This compact touring group has minimal technical requirements to make a big show. Fly in engagements are a snap. This four piece group has over two decades of world tour experience and always delivers!

From 2010 to 2013, Wild Child lead singer Dave Brock fronted the touring act "Ray Manzarek and Robby Krieger of The Doors." Being selected by these two Rock'n Roll Hall of Fame musicians was a huge honor for Dave. This was the ultimate compliment of his talents and speaks volumes for his credibility as a doors style front man and vocalist.

Here are a few things the media had to say about Wild Child.

Radio Legend Jim Ladd said "These guys are excellent, not a cartoon version of The Doors" The L.A. Times said "Wild Child a winner! What's amazing is that Brock sings like Morrison, enough to imperil the snowflake analogy about no two sets of vocal chords being able to produce the exact same tone."

The L.A. Weekly said "From every angle, Dave Brock is Jim Morrison: his looks, his act and most amazing of all is his voice!"
